City loses $3 million in aid for the poor

By Dean Jones
BELLE GLADE City Commissioners learned Tuesday night that U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) officials in Jacksonville have refused the city's application for $3 million worth of assistance over the next three years.

Community Development Director Remar Harvin reported during a workshop session that Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds were refused when the application failed to score enough points to wind up in the running for the money allocated to small cities in the state.

Harvin and the commissioners said the refusal means there will be no funding in Fiscal Year 1982-83 for the city's Community Development Department, with the exception of possibly a few thousand dollars carryover funds from this year.

The city has been funded through the program for the past five years and has been described as having the best program in the state, earning more points than any other city in a similar category in the state for the past several years.

Harvin said each application is graded out in several categories and the only one to lose points concerns the 100 percent impactation required for the first time this year. Harvin said two months ago he felt the new policy might cause the city to lose money.

In that one area, the city scored 171 points of a possible 400. In the other three categories, the city scored almost perfect or perfect scores.

Community Development funds have been used for years to provide public service projects in targeted areas and replace or rehabilitate housing in those areas, all of which are in the Southwest section of the city.

Harvin was authorized to set up a meeting between himself and whoever of the city commissioners who can attend on the one hand with HUD officials on the other in Jacksonville to get an explanation for the refusal.

"Unless we're able to get changes," Mayor Tom Altman said, "there'll be no funds for the program after Oct. 1. Before, HUD has gone out of its way to compliment the Belle Glade program and we had received nearly the maximum number of points for our applications. Now, all of a sudden, we don't have enough to

South Bay cancels Mar. 3 city election

SOUTH BAY—The 1981 city election, slated for Mar. 3, was cancelled Tuesday, making this the second time in four years the city has gone without an election.

There was no election in 1978, when the city was changing its election day from September to March. There will be no election this year because none of the three incumbents qualified for reelection before the end of the qualifying period Monday afternoon.

City Clerk Virginia Walker said the election was cancelled on the advice of Theresa Lapore, assistant to Palm Beach County Supervisor of Elections Jackie Winchester.

"Theresa said state statutes don't require an election when there's no opposition," Mrs. Walker said, "unless the city charter is in conflict with the statute. The city charter doesn't spell it out one way or another."

Mrs. Walker said this is the first time she's aware of that none of the commissioners whose seats would normally be vacated by the election process have failed to have someone challenge them.

The city commissioners up for re-election this year are Mayor-Commissioner Don Tanner and Commissioners Vernita Cox and Refugio "Pancho" Garcia. Mrs. Cox had no opposition two years ago in the 1979 election.

Because none of them have opposition, Mrs.

Cox will be seated for her fifth term, Tanner for his fourth and Garcia, the first elected Latin in the county, for his second.

The city election clock began ticking Jan. 9 when the qualifying period began. It would normally have ended with the election Sept. 3 or, had there been a runoff, on Mar. 10.

"It could mean," Mrs. Walker said, "that everyone's satisfied with all three commissioners or it could be apathy. Surely, everyone knew about it because we not only carried ads, stories were run in all the papers."

Mrs. Walker said that since the option to hold the election was left up to the city, it wouldn't be held in order to cut costs.

Agreement ends tenant's strike

By Dean Jones
BELLE GLADE — An Agreement signed last Wednesday by Okeechobee Center Cries Help (OCCCH) and the Belle Glade Housing Authority (BGHA) ended a two month old rent strike and lawsuits that have been pending for more than six months.

The primary stipulations in the agreement called for an end to the rent strike and litigation, a return to the BGHA of $41,000 in rent collected by the OCCCH, an end to eviction proceedings by the BGHA on participants in the rent strike and the formation of five committees to be manned by tenants who will act in an advisory capacity to the Housing Authority.

Contrary to earlier news reports, there was no mention in the agreement concerning Okeechobee Center Manager Harvey Poole. Early news reports indicated that one of the major concessions won by the tenants was that the Housing Authority had 60 days to either terminate or transfer Poole.

Points made by the agreement included:

- Tenants would, by Monday, Feb. 16, begin paying rent directly to the Housing Authority and by Wednesday, Feb. 18, OCCCH would turn over to the BGHA all the money collected by OCCCH over the past two months and deposited in the Palm Beach Lakes Bank.
- The Housing Authority would drop all eviction proceedings. The BGHA had begun proceedings against a total of 13 tenants.
- OCCCH has the right, the next time a vacancy occurs on the BGHA board, to recommend a replacement to the Belle Glade City Commission. The agreement stipulates the recommendation is not binding on the BGHA. The fact is that the mayor

Country Club lease to be renegotiated

By Dean Jones
BELLE GLADE — City Commissioners will be using an oversight by Lakeside Country Club owner John Vayias during the next few weeks to amend his lease of the city-owned facility, inserting provisions omitted in the original agreement.

The commissioners made the decision during a Tuesday evening workshop to negotiate the changes, concentrating on the three areas of providing breakfast to golfers, and the club's Friday and Saturday night activities and the respective responsibilities of Vayias and the city for maintenance and replacement of equipment.

The decision was made possible when Vayias failed to exercise his option before Dec. 30 to renew the original lease, which ends Feb. 28, although the commissioners said they want to keep Vayias as a tenant rather than attempt to find a new lease.

The matter first came up in another workshop two weeks ago when City Attorney John Barker noted Vayias had failed to exercise his option at least 60 days before the lease expires, as called for in the contract he and the city signed two years ago.

Several of the commissioners said at the time they were unhappy with some of the facets of the facility's operation and this would be a good time to negotiate changes in the lease.

Vayias said Tuesday he had simply overlooked the deadline for the option and that he still wants to lease the club.

Mayor Tom Altman reiterated comments he made two weeks ago that his major areas of concern were failure of the club to support the golf course on weekends. At that time, he said that club had become more of a juke joint than a restaurant.

Vayias protested Tuesday that he has been serving breakfast for golfers on weekends since Dec. 1, which satisfied Altman's major criticism in regard to supporting the golf course.

He also presented a letter, signed by more than 180 people, protesting Altman's characterization of the club as a juke joint. That letter, and two others Vayias also presented to the commissioners, also contended Vayias operates a good restaurant and one averred it was the best restaurant in the Glades.

Altman commented that many of the same people who complained to him about the club's operation had signed the first letter Vayias presented, "whether they didn't know what they were signing or whether they changed their minds. I don't know."

Vayias explained that on Friday and Saturday nights he operates the club as a restaurant until 11 p.m., when a band

Legislators approve Conservancy District tax hike

By Dean Jones
BELLE GLADE — Palm Beach County Legislative Delegation members visiting the Glades Tuesday pushed a higher tax cap for the South Florida Conservancy District a step closer to reality.

The delegation held its annual hearing for the Glades at the Belle Glade City Hall and, near the top of its agenda for the morning, approved the request made by District Chairman Clarence "Smoky" Knecht.

The tax increase now has only two more steps before becoming reality; passage as a special act of the legislature as a whole and approval by landowners in a special meeting on Mar. 10.

The increase would mean landowners would pay $12 per acre or parcel of land for the so-called restoration tax and as much as $20 per acre or parcel as a maintenance tax. The present limits are $5 and $12 respectively.

Knecht said two weeks ago during a presentation to the Belle Glade City Commission that the District would probably only begin assessing $14 an acre as a maintenance tax but the full $12 restoration tax would be levied.

The district stretches from just south of Hookers Point in Hendry County on the west to Six Mile Bend on the east and Runyon Village on the north.

When Legislative Delegation Chairman Jim Watt asked Knecht how the residents of the Belle Glade - South Bay area would benefit by the increased tax, Knecht replied that, "Every drop of water that falls on the Conservancy District has to be pumped twice. The District pumps the water the first time."

Knecht requested the increased taxing ability for the District on grounds that inflation is cutting into the operating expenses and the District is now planning to finish its project earlier than originally anticipated.

The legislators also heard a number of other speakers provide input for their consideration this spring in Tallahassee but not before Watt informed the audience that the delegation is working with County Commissioner Bill Bailey to provide easier access to the delegation members by Glades residents through the tie-line operated by the county.

"Hopefully," Watt said, "this line will be in operation in about two weeks."

One of the discussions arose during an agenda item in which Mayor Tom Altman appeared to ask the legislators to appoint a list of nominees to the Area Planning Board and the Palm Beach County Solid Waste Authority.

Senator Donnell Childers said he had a problem, not in appointing the new members, but with his impression that the Authority might do better by being subordinated to the county commission.

Childers said that, as far as he knew, the Authority could only make recommendations and then turn projects over to the county or other agencies to operate. He said he also understood the Authority doesn't have the authorization to float bond issues.

Altman said the Authority does not only have the power to float bonds, it has already done so. He went on to say one of the problems is that solid waste in the county is largely generated within municipalities and the cities need some input into the ultimate disposal.

Senator Tom Lewis noted that the Authority does have the powers to enforce and operate solid waste facilities and the only reason the delegation is concerned with appointing new members is because the members of the authority cut across the political spectra of city and county.

At Childers' suggestion, more input will be provided from a meeting between the delegation's attorney and Tim Hunt of the Authority.

Wearing another hat, Altman also presented to the delegation members the legislative Instructor Sandi Richmond said this is a first for the Glades area and she is encouraging the input of agencies which haven't yet been contacted. The booklet will contain information such as the name of the agency, its functions, name of the person or persons in charge and how to contact the agency.

Mrs. Richmond said the booklet will be indexed so a person need only know the type of service he or she needs in order to locate the proper agency.

In still another discussion, Glades Area Association for Retarded Citizens Director Tricia Blash urged adoption of legislation which would assure that all students in grades kindergarten through 12 would have to prove they had been inoculated against rubella and rubola.

Glades General Hospital Board Chairman Sandra Chambliss urged the lawmakers to check into the possibility of having Medicaid pay a greater share of the expenses of providing care to the needy.

She said that at present, Medicaid only pays 70-75 per cent of the costs for caring for a patient for a day. An example she gave is that Medicaid doesn't allow the hospital to bill Medicaid patients for the cost of maintaining malpractice insurance, a cost she said is necessary to operate.

Rep. Bernard Kimmel, a physician himself, suggested that Medicaid would allow the hospital to charge for its own malpractice insurance but not for the insurance being carried by physicians working under contract for the hospital, that that bill would be allowed under the doctor's billing.

Mrs. Chambliss also asked the delegation's help in cutting red tape to get more nursing home beds located in Belle Glade. She said some people who should be cared for in a

• A Finance Committee to offer input on the general financial condition of the Housing Authority and try to find new grants and loans available.

• A Communication and Relations Committee to keep open the lines of communications between the BGHA and the tenants in the two housing centers.

Housing Authority Executive Director David Motes said there was little in the agreement which gave the tenants any rights they didn't possess prior to the rent strike, pointing out that the Authority's meetings have • OCCH will, within one week of the signing of the agreement, dismiss with prejudice all lawsuits pending against BGHA.

The five committees to be formed would have three to five members each. The members would be appointed by the BGHA from a list of recommendations by tenants, including those tenants at Osceola Center should they wish to participate. The committees and their functions include:

get funded.

"It's screwy," Altman said, "and I think we deserve some answer to why, all of a sudden, we had so few points."

Harvin said he couldn't come up with a reason either. He said he thought that, possibly, because the city has been funded since the program began, some HUD officials had decided it was time that some other cities begin receiving funding.

He said he telephoned the HUD office in Jacksonville, however, and was told that wasn't the case, that the application simply failed to pick up enough points.

In all categories, Harvin said 107 cities in the state had applied for funds, 24 of which would be funded. Belle Glade was tenth in its category.

"And we weren't by ourselves," he said. Other applicants that traditionally have been funded over the past several years which were cut this time were Key West, Manatee County and Palatka. "I couldn't find anything unique about the case of Belle Glade to figure out why we were cut," he said.

"The only thing I could come up with was the nature of the project," Harvin said, "but, as the mayor pointed out, it was a superior application."

Altman said Senator Lawton Chiles' office has already indicated support in attempting to find out what the problem is. When Commissioner Dorothy Walker asked if it might help for others to inquire on behalf of the city, however, he said he didn't think the time was right for that yet.

"Right now," Altman said, "I think it's a bureaucratic problem, not political, but the time may come when we'll need political help."

Harvin said there is a possibility the city could get funding for a project next year but pointed out there are inherent dangers in a year's work stoppage, including the necessity of laying off department workers and the continuity of the program as seen by the public.

When Commissioner Walker asked if there is some method of appeal, Harvin said there isn't as far as he knows.

Altman said it was interesting to note that one of the HUD bureaucrats the city would probably have to deal with is Cleve Talmadge, a former city manager.

nursing home winds up occupying a hospital bed that may become needed also by an emergency patient and that could lead to problems such as the one experienced by the hospital last week when it only had one bed left vacant as a backup in case of emergency patients that might have to be admitted.

New School Board member Sam Lovell also made a presentation, including a "minority report" in which he said he felt vocational teachers should not be exempted from taking certification tests.

Following the hearing at the city hall, the delegation members were the guests of the Western Palm Beach County Farm Bureau for lunch at the bureau office.

South Bay commission to update codes and ordinances

By Alma Henry
SOUTH BAY — Calling the City of South Bay codes "antiquated and sometimes superseded by state law," City Attorney James Gann recommended to the South Bay City Commissioners at their regular meeting Tuesday night to have their municipal ordinances revamped.

"It has been 12 years since the City last updated their codes," said Gann.

"The City has budgeted $11,000 for the project and I think its time the codes were updated," Gann said.

Gann said he and City Clerk Virginia Walker met recently with Dale Bartow, an associate with Municipal Code Corporation of Tallahassee, briefly and had found a number of codes and ordinances that were superseded by state law.

Mrs. Walker said Bartow had given a figure of $7,800 for the recodification of the ordinances and said the project would take approximately 15 months to complete.

Mrs. Walker said the $7,800 figure would account for 300 pages and every page over 300 the city should be charged an additional $20 per page.

Gann said Bartow did not think the recodification of the codes would take 300 pages and the city should stay within the $7,800 figure.

Commissioner Sammy Rogers asked Gann if it would not be wise to update the City Charter as well as the ordinances.

"If we are going to update the ordinances we need to do it right and do the charter as well, said Rogers.

Gann said the City had budgeted enough money to include the Charter but did not recommend the City Charter be updated at the present time although the charter needed updating.

"For the City charter to be updated the Commissioners would have to place all deletions and additions recommended on ballot and the electors of South Bay would have to vote on the changes," said

Gann.

Gann said he felt with the present water rate increases imposed by the City the electors would not be too receptive to the idea at the present.

"When you start changing the City charter sometime the electors think you are trying to take power away from them," said Gann.

Gann said, during the recodification of the ordinances Municipal Corporation would also look at the City charter and would make some general suggestions for changes.

Gann said Bartow already had told him a city charter should be approximately 15 pages and at the present time the City of South Bay charter numbered 107 pages.

"There are a number of things in the charter that should have been ordinances," said Gann.

The Commissioners unanimously agreed to have the codes updated and to put the recodification project out for bid.

In other business Gann told the Commission a pre-closing conference was scheduled with Farm Home Administration for the bonds for the rebuilding of the water and sewer plant.

• Passed a resolution supporting the FHA water grant agreement.

stop trouble before it gets started.

"I just provide food, a live band and a few drinks if someone wants them,"

Vayas told Miss Walker. He said that because of the presence of the off-duty officers, he has fewer problems with rowdiness than many other places in the area and that he provides the only real place for local people to go without traveling to West Palm Beach or Clewiston.

Police Chief D. Bill Mathis, when asked by Mayor Altman, backed up Vayas' statement, saying that many problems are apparently handled in house.

He said that in the past year, there have been 34 complaints, "excepting vandalism and accidents in the parking lot, as they sell drinks and have a live band there'll be some problems but it's better than most."

After more discussion, the commissioners directed City Attorney John Bahar, Acting City Manager Frank Anderson and other city employees to meet with Vayas and work out recommendations for amending Vayas' lease. At Bahar's suggestion, the commission also took to extend the current lease by 30 days until Mar. 31.

In other discussion, Altman told the commissioners that he and Public Works Director Ron Sigmon found during a trip to Atlanta concerning the 201 Waste Water Disposal Plan that an amendment to the plan named, the county as the owner and operator of a deep well, into which water is eventually to be pumped according to the plan.

"Through four years of working out the plan," Altman said, "Belle Glade was named as the owner and operator and now, suddenly, it's the county."

FOUR-WHEEL PRIDE

How I See It

by Alma Henry

Glades Area Association for Retarded Citizens and Mrs. Bobbi Cumpston deserves a round of applause. Since Friday I have been hearing nothing but great things about the local ARC Valentine sweetheart door to door delivery held Friday and Saturday in conjunction with Valentine's Day.

We all know that Valentine's Day is one of our nation's holidays that everybody likes to be remembered. Everyone likes to think at least there is somebody somewhere that loves them or feels special something inside their heart for them.

The Valentine tradition is one that caters to floral shops, candy shops, gift card shops and so on.

This year the local ARC made it easy for a lot of gents and ladies to make their Valentine's Day gift selections a little bit easier.

The local ARC delivered over 100 orders to secretaries, husbands, wives, girlfriends, and boyfriends, and secret admirers a wide selection of gift ideas.

Laura Collier, ARC secretary and myself was just one set of delivery girls working together.

The expression Laura and I witnessed are expressions that cannot be replaced with a million dollars.

The gratitude and sheer excitement and joy expressed from some of the receivers were just too much. We even had a couple of husbands who were so overwhelmed at receiving a cup of coffee and a heart cake from their wives with the message I Love You, I found myself being swamped with hugs and the question "Is it really for me?"

When the days was over I felt the local ARC and all the grand ladies behind this venture just to name a few, Charles Sizemore, Carol Zumpf and Bobbi Cumpston along with Tricia Blash had worked to give some of the Glades residents one of the happiest moments in their life.

I was glad that I too in some way played a small part in their happiness by simply being the delivery girl.

What a waste!

An agreement signed last week between the Belle Glade Housing Authority and Okeechobee Center Crisis Help (OCCCH) ended a two month old rent strike and litigation that's gone on for the past six months and that's good.

But after reading the terms of the agreement, one can only wonder at the jubilation evinced by the tenants in television news footage and at the "concessions" they thought they won...and that language is used cautiously.

First of all, contrary to early news reports that said the Housing Authority has 60 days from the signing of the agreement to transfer Okeechobee Center Manager Harvey Poole, who was worked for the BGHA for 33 years, Poole wasn't mentioned in the agreement.

Second, one section of the agreement stipulates the tenants have the right to recommend a replacement to the city commission when a vacancy falls due on the Authority, although the recommendation isn't binding on BGHA.

That might be considered a concession if, 1) the city was a party to the agreement and, 2) the city commission had the authority to appoint replacements to the Authority. The fact is, the mayor is the one with that authority. That part of the agreement is meaningless.

Another salient point in the agreement is the formation of five committees to provide advice and input on various facets of the operation of the Authority. The committee members will be appointed by the Authority from lists of nominees named by the tenants.

That's not a bad idea and, had those committees been operating earlier all the time, the rent strike and litigation between OCCCH and the Authority might have been headed off before the troubles began.

Those committees also appear to be the sole concession won by the tenants from the Housing Authority, in exchange for agreements that OCCCH would end the current strike and would provide 30 days written notice before taking any future concerted action to withhold rent from the Authority.

It should also be pointed out that while the committees give the tenants an organized base of strength from which to deal, individual tenants had the right all along to sit in on Authority meetings and provide input. The Authority does, after all, work under Government in the Sunshine.

Considering the fact that the Housing Authority must now pay for its legal fees incurred during the two months of strike and six months of litigation from rent fees collected; and considering the fact that means either a cutback in services delivered or an increase in rental collections, one can only wonder if the concessions won are worth the price paid.

The profit may be worthwhile but this case apparently bears one trademark in common with all too many lawsuits. The only winners are the attorneys.

No election?

This may go down in South Bay history as the year there was no election.

There will be no election Mar. 3, when it was scheduled, because the three incumbents attracted no opposition...and that speaks volumes about the South Bay voters, although what the message is may not be clear.

Either, as City Clerk Virginia Walker said, the city's voters are satisfied with the incumbents, which would be nice but isn't probable, or possibly opponents didn't get the word or there is a massive case of apathy on the part of the city's voters.

The last possibility is the least attractive but the most probable and the only reasonable questions arise over the cause of the apathy.

Either possible opponents feel there's no chance they can get elected, they don't feel they can do any better than the incumbents or they don't feel anyone can handle the problems facing the commissioners during the coming two years. Take your pick.

Whichever happens to be the correct answer, it may be fine for the incumbents, who now have no need to spend the time, energy and money campaigning to hold onto their seats, but it's bad news for the voters, and that's no putdown of the three commissioners now holding office.

This kind of situation is bad for the voters and the community because it reveals the kind of apathy which could mean the onset of stagnation and because the incumbents could lose responsiveness to their constituents.

The irony of it all is that this type of situation should exist so hard on the heels of a number of meetings in which residents have complained about the rising price of water and sewer service, a matter hardly within the commission's powers of control but which is the type of thing that would normally seem to generate opposition to the powers that be.

Clones and things

There has been a lot of talk recently about cloning. Now, from what I can understand, a clone is exact duplicate of another animal and is developed from one cell.

What could possibly be gained in having a duplicate? Personally, I thought when they made an Edsel it was a mistake and it was!

Don't get me wrong, it could be nice to have as many Short Stuff's as possible in the world, but it wouldn't take long to lose one's identity. Call me old-fashioned if you will, but I much prefer the old method of reproduction. It may not be as sterile, but it is a heck of a lot more fun!

Congratulations, you are the proud parent of a clone. He looks just like you! How would you feel? Sure doesn't sound like the doctor saying, "Congratulations, it's a boy" or "It's a girl." No, it takes all the guessing, hoping and praying out of life.

Suppose they took the wrong cell from you and you became the proud parent of a leg or a arm or who knows what else? Even though I'm all for progress especially scientific progress, I just can't fathom creating modern day Frankenstein or Rocky Horror.

Somehow, I've a sneaky suspicion that cancer research led to the cloning of a rat recently. Instead of learning from that and going on to a possible cure for cancer, they decided to forget that and try to clone a bigger animal. I guess maybe they figure that if they create it from the start, they can cure it in the end.

I have asked a few people if they would like to have a clone. Here are some answers I received:

CRACKER CRUMBS: "What?"

BRENDA: "I'd like to be cloned so one of me could make it somewhere on time."

ALMA: "I don't want two of me!"

SCOTT: "I couldn't stand the competition."

I was just considering. If there were two of me I could go water skiing a lot more often!

What do you think about that, Carol!

MORE SHORT STUFF

Just recently, the Pahokee prince Theatre Foundation denied the use of the theatre to us for the production of Neil Simon's "Prisoner of Second Avenue". Since then we have found another place to perform our production.

On behalf of the cast members I would like to thank Dr. Cecil Conley for the use of a room in the college so that we can continue our production. It sure has made all the hard work worthwhile, Dr. Conley!

Thanks also should go out to Dr. Barry Russell the director of our production. He was responsible for obtaining the room for us. Without him we would not have a room or a production. It is nice having someone so dedicated standing by us.

We all look forward to having everyone there to see the play!

Life is full of hills and valleys but wouldn't it be just lovely to know you'd already peaked out and all that's left is a downhill slide?

Had a couple of ups, downs and all-around come up this week. There was the announcement by Senator Lawton Chiles that he was prefilling a bill in Congress to revamp the Social Security System; There was the announcement by Florida Trend that they'd found the best resorts in the state and then there was a cute little special on TV about people with more money than good sense.

Actually, all three were only of academic interest because I seriously doubt they'll ever have a direct impact on yours truly. I probably won't live to collect any of the Social Security I've paid over the years, and even if I do, Social Security'll probably be broke, and working on newspapers, there ain't much chance I'll ever stay at one of the resorts or party with the super-rich.

The one I can associate with better though, is Walkin' Lawton's proposed bill, which sounds pretty good to me. He'd like to remove the mandatory retirement age of 70, eliminate the earnings limitation for those over 65 and, beginning in the year 2000, phase in a new retirement age of 68.

I always did think it was sorta hypocritical of the gov-mint to start out by saying Social Security was supposed to provide only part of a retired person's wherewithal, then fine the retiree who works on the side to supplement his or her Social Security check.

The worse thing about it, so far as I'm concerned, is that it only affects the poor person who needs Social Security the most. If you're able to sock away some bread in stocks and bonds, that income doesn't count against Social Security. The system only beats those who haven't earned enough to invest or save anything to spend on the side.

Well, no one said it was gonna be easy or fair and considering who writes the laws, what else can we expect?

On the other hand, there's the really essential checklist done by Florida Trend. It's essential that we all know, for instance, that at the Boca Raton Hotel and Club, where the cheapest room in November and December runs $161 a day, the appearance is good but diners, which come with the price of the room, are only fair.

I can recall when $161 was more than my monthly take-home pay...maybe even more than what I grossed for the month so it's essential to me to know that when I spend that much for a night's lodging, dinner comes with the room, even if it's only rated fair.

Actually, not all the resorts listed are that expensive. As a matter of fact, none of the others, including the Breakers, Amelia Island Plantation or the Doral Country Club are, although each of those are out of your reach if you can't cough up more than $100 a night.

The most expensive place listed was the Grenefe Resort at $39 a day, or night if that's the way you figure it.

I can walk back too far back, when I'd just graduated from high school, I pushed boards in a lumber yard for five and a half days a week and my paycheck didn't come to $39.

None of which makes the slightest difference anyway because the key criterion in the judging by the magazine was the appeal to the vacationing executive...which I never was when I pushed lumber for a living and I'm not now, when I push a pencil for a living.

Moving right along, there was an even richer lifestyle mentioned during a television program a couple weeks ago, in which Alistair Cook was talking about The Season (note the caps) at Newport Rhode Island, back when the Vanderbilts, the Morgans and a few others of their ilk summered there.

I could really empathize with the discussion about the summer cottages, at least for a couple of minutes. Heck, I know a few people who own summer cottages, although they're mostly located somewhere in the mountains of North Carolina rather than in Newport.

But somehow, I don't believe those cottages were the same thing. I never owned one myself anyway but none of my friends ever admitted they spent $2 million to build their cottages then socked another $9 million into furnishing it.

Some summer cottage!
And some parties too!

Mr. Cook mentioned one where the centerpiece decoration along the long dining table was a trough filled with sand and little sterling silver shovels. At one point during the dinner, the guests were invited to dig out their own party favors...diamonds, rubies and emeralds buried in the sand.

I don't know if they carried their shovels home too.

Come to think of it, I don't really care.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I appreciated the invitation that was extended to me by Dale Milita and the Prince Theatre Foundation Committee to meet with the representatives of the theatre group of the Glades and also the Foundation Committee to give them my opinion on some of the language used in the play "Prisoner on Second Avenue" by Neil Simon publishers.

After reading the first 15 pages of the play, I found that the third Commandment as stated in God's word, Exodus 20:1, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain, the Lord thy God hold him guiltless who taketh his name in vain." This commandment was willingly and wondrously broken many, many times and therefore is blasphemous before God, and any born-again Christian that has any morals and respect for God's Word. Not only was this commandment broken but other abusive and immoral language was used throughout the play. If this is a T.V. play, it was probably shown after 12:00 a.m. on HBO when the other X and R-rated movies are shown.

I was not asked to address the cast. I did confront those producers members that were at the meeting with the Prince Theatre Foundation Committee.

I gave the Bible opinion of the play to everyone present and stated that I could not personally use or recommend the use of the Prince Theatre to my church at the same location that they had used to take God's name in vain and other abusive language.

To my family and church, there is nothing comical about cursing God and taking his name in vain more than 25 times in a play that was supposed to be wholesome family entertainment. If we put our approval on this type of entertainment, we are just as guilty before God as those that are promoting this type of play.

I think that the Prince Theatre Foundation Committee deserves the praise and commendation of every born-again Christian and every decent and Bible respecting person in Pahokee.

Respectfully,
Pastor Ray Simmons
Pahokee Church of God

Mr. Bill Phillips
C/o The Out House

Dear Mr. Phillips:
Your column of Feb. 12, concerning the care you received at Glades General Hospital did not completely reflect an accurate description of the actual event.

Upon presentation to the emergency room you requested that you be treated by your own private physician even though a physician was available and on duty in the emergency room and could have treated you in less than five minutes.

It is unfortunate that your doctor did not feel that your condition was an "emergency" and directed the nurse to have you be seen at his office later that day.

You should have known from your previous hospital employment that this is a very standard procedure used in an emergency room when patients are seen by their private physicians.

By the way, Mr. Phillips, much has changed in the emergency room in the past 15 years. We have a highly skilled nursing staff that is dedicated to serving the public with high quality nursing care. We have physicians on duty 24 hours each day and two ambulance crews and paramedics on duty 24 hours each day. If you should ever have a "true" emergency and require the services of the hospital's physicians, nurses or paramedics please be assured that they are ready, willing and able to serve you in spite of your distorted opinion of the hospital.

It is too bad that your complaint about the treatment you received from your own private physician has caused you to blame the hospital. I would have felt that someone as sophisticated and knowledgeable as you purport yourself to be would know exactly what is the source of the problem.

Sincerely,
Patrick A. Lennon
Administrator

Ladies are hot

Central trackers set records

BELLE GLADE — Members of the Glades Central girls track team set two records and at least placed in each of the 12 events they entered Friday at the Bull Falcons Relays in Miami.

Coach Jay Seider said there was no team scoring and no individual entries. Points were won only in relay events or by combining the scores of three competitors in individual field events. A total of 21 schools entered the Relays. Seider said all the other teams were Class AAAA and mostly represented the Greater Miami area.

The Lady Raiders set the new records in the 400 yard relay team effort of 107' 8 1/4".

Miss Nix, Gloria Stewart and Dianne Bussie beat out the old discus record by a whopping 15 feet, with a combined distance from 252 feet to 327 feet, 2 1/2 inches.

In the long jump, Fleeta Hearst, Carmen Crawford and Barbara Bostick added up their jumps for a third place win with a total effort of 48' 10 1/4".

The three mile relay team won third place when Sharon Lawrence, Linda Lovett, Janice Williams and Betty McClorin ran the distance in 18:03.

The 880 yard relay team also won a third place when Bostick, Linda Jackson, Dawn Massiam and Crawford crossed the finish line in 1:50.4.

The high jump entrants topped a total height cleared of 13' 8" to take fourth place in that event. The jumpers were Fleeta Hearst, Sophie Dukes and Gloria Stewart.

Bostick, Jackson, Massiam and Crawford ran the 440 yard relay in 52' 4" to take fourth place.

Crusaders top Glades Day

By Scott Ellis
For the first time ever in a regular season match, the Christian Day High School Crusaders defeated the Glades Day Gators 68-64 in double-overtime battle.

"This is the big one, we really needed this," an excited Crusader Coach Larry Lee said after the game. "We were slumping in the middle of the season, but now, we're coming back real strong."

The score was tied and leads were in the one-to-three point range for most of the contest. Things ended up knotted at 60-60 at the end of the fourth period, and 64-64 at the end of the first three-minute overtime.

In the last period, Coach Lee tried an unusual tactic. Right after the opening tip, his squad obtained possession of the ball and kept it for the entire period. The Crusaders were waiting to take a final shot in the last few seconds, not giving Glades Day a chance to regain possession.

"We wanted the ball the whole period because they were hot, sinking most of their goals. We were too, but I didn't want them (Gators) to have another chance," Lee said.

The strategy worked, as Christian Day sank a final field goal at the buzzer to win the game. Crusader fans rushed the gym floor as the final basket was tallied on the scoreboard.

Senior Jesus Armas and Sophomore Luis Garcia led the Crusaders in scoring with 16 each. Next were Alex Morales with 12; Tavi Garcia, 8; Scott Henderson, 7; Alex Hermida, 5; and Jimmy Hayes, 2.

Both teams were red-hot from the free throw line, with Christian Day hitting 18 of 23 shots and the Gators hitting 19 of 23.

Friday, Christian Day beat Jupiter Christian away 85-66, but lost to Benjamin at home Tuesday, 64-52. The Crusaders' record is now 14-7. Friday, they go to Moore Haven and Saturday, they have their last regular season game at home, versus St. Edwards.

The Gators had a bad weekend, losing to Christian Day Saturday and at Benjamin Friday, 55-48.

Leading scorers at Benjamin were Dan Ross, with 16; Tom Swager and Greg Chancian with 12; Richard Schiele, 6 and Jason Shelton, 2.

Against Christian, Swager led with 18; Schiele, 14; Shelton and Chancian, 8 each; Scott Meredith, 7; Ross, 7; and Andy Fontaine, 2.

Rebounding leader versus Benjamin was Schiele with 11. Against Christian, Schiele again grabbed 11.

For Christian Day versus Glades Day, Garcia and Scott Henderson led their team in rebounds, with 9 each.

Central girls win 20th

BELLE GLADE — The Glades Central girls' basketball team won their 20th and final game of the season to enter the district playoffs with a single loss to mar their record for the regular season.

Coach Mike Logsdon's Lady Raiders hammered the distaff Blue Devils of Pahokee with a score of 71-72 Monday night for their 19th consecutive win of the year. They will play the winner of Friday night's District 11 game between North Shore and p.m. Saturday for the District championship.

"The Pahokee game was a total blowout," Logsdon said. "Freshman Karen Gooden came in off the bench and did a real good job. Joy Burroughs and Jessica Hansford both played a super game."

Burroughs guided the scoring for Glades Central, racking up 28 points, 11 assists, 10 steals and five rebounds.

She was followed by Hansford, who scored 12 points, three assists, four steals and 11 rebounds;

CRUSADER COACH Larry Lee talks over strategy with his team.

GCCH Science fair winners announced

BELLE GLADE — Winners of last week's science fair were announced Monday, when 16 students shared awards in physical and biological sciences and two age divisions.

The first place winner in the biological science competition was Lee Glaze, a sophomore, for his display on acid rain. David Pearson, a ninth grader, won second place and Marjorie Gregory, another freshman, won third.

In the physical science category, Elaine Smith and Silvia Navarro, two juniors, won first place honors on their joint project on crystallization. John Mooney won second place and Suzette Blake and Jennifer Weir, all three juniors, won third place.

In ninth grade competition, LaTangela McCauley won first place, followed by Lady Navarro and Corenesha Dukes in second and third places.

Merchants and customers - get together!

I know that I won't be the first or last to propose the following solution to the Glades are a business dilemma: Why doesn't Belle Glade and Pahokee have some kind of "Shop At Home" program via their respective Chambers of Commerce or through retail merchants associations?

During my advertising round every week, most merchants complain about how they lose business to the Gold Coast. And, customers complain because they have to go to West Palm Beach to get the goods and services they desire. Why can't these two groups get together and keep more commerce in the Glades?

Well, working together, they can keep more retail business here at home. Merchants should promote their wares more, coming up with ideas that will catch the customers' attention.

One way or vehicle for this promotion is through a local retail merchant association. By everyone pooling their resources and energies together in such a group, effective campaigns can be waged—campaigns that can bring real results.

Many small towns facing stiff competition from nearby metropolitan areas have formed retail associations, and they've worked. It could work here too.

Consumers aren't blameless either. Most of us have, at one time, or another, shopped on the coast when we could have purchased the same item, at a similar price, right here in the Glades. Customers should watch more to make sure and catch all the sales and be aware of just what our Belle Glade and Pahokee businesses have to offer.

KEEPING THE FAITH

BY THE REV. JOE ED MCGAHEY
Community United Methodist Church

"Bless the Lord, O my soul; and all that is within me, bless His holy name. Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits; Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; Who healeth all thy diseases." Psalm 103:1-3

How can man bless his Creator? How can you and I do anything that would bless Almighty, Everlasting and all Powerful God of all that there is? How can the creation bless the name of his Creator?

That is what the Word of God here commands you and I to do. That is not an isolated statement in the Bible-it is an oft repeated charge given to us by the Spirit God, as He directed the writing of the Bible.

Most of the time when we think of blessing in our relationship with God, we think of it only in terms of God's blessing upon us. Very often as man turns to God in prayer, his petition is, "Lord bless me, Lord bless my children, my loved ones, my friends." How often that prayer is prayed, sometimes with great feeling, other times as a catch all, because we do not know how else to pray. Sometimes it is words to express a vague feeling of need. What does it mean to bless?

To bless means to make happy, to make holy and on to praise. "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and all that is within me, bless His holy name." This is an act of our will, or our very person to bring happiness and praise to God. How can you and I do this? How does a child make his earthly father happy? There are several ways. One of them is to be what the father wants him to be. When a child is good and obedient, then a earthly father (or mother) is happy. Disobedient children are always a source of unhappiness for earthly parents, likewise when you and I disobey God. Whenever we live in His will for us then we bless God with our lives. We bless God because we bring Him happiness. Likewise an earthly parent is made happy or blessed by a loving child. One of the things a loving parent misses when their children grow up, are those children crawling up in the laps and saying, "Mama (or Daddy) I love you." There is something special about that. A good father or mother always enjoy hearing those words from their children. When we as Christians, (God's children) tell God we love Him, because we really mean it, we bless God. This is one of our ways of blessing our Heavenly Father. We also bless God when we

Death Is Only A Part Of Life

We enter his world from "The Great Unknown" and God gives each Spirit a forum of its own and endows this form with a heart and a soul.

To spur man on to his ultimate goal...For all men are born to Birth and they Came And Return and death are in essence the same And man is but born to die and arise.

For beyond this world in beauty there lies The purpose of death which is but to gain Life Everlasting in God's Great Domain.

And no one need make this journey alone for God has promised to take care of His own.

Looking DOWN at the MOUTH, lately?

There is a very sound reason for this fellow to look down at the mouth. He's a hippopotamus — and that's exactly how a hippo is supposed to look.

But what accounts for people looking down at the mouth... sometimes?

It's usually because... they aren't satisfied with being what they are. They wish life could have given them a different break. If only circumstances hadn't conspired...

That's no reason at all for looking hippo-like. Man has resources that can overcome his discontent. He has spiritual potential that can alter his life, make him a different person, conquer every conspiracy of circumstance.

Now is an ideal time to start looking up-from-the-heart. At church you'll experience a different approach to life. The cheerfulness that can brighten life flourishes on faith.

Employees of the month named

BELLE GLADE — Five Glades General Hospital employees were honored with the title of Employee of the Month for their outstanding services to the hospital. The occasion hosted the employee of the month for September, October, November, December and January.

Glades General Assistant Administrator, Catherine Williams presented the recipients of the award with a check for $25.

Cheryl Hanna was September's Employee of the Month. Mrs. Hanna is a clerk in the insurance office and has been employed with Glades General since Feb. 28, 1980.

October's Employee of the Month, Margaret Rouse, has been employed at the hospital since Feb. 20, 1967 and she is a nurses aide in the emergency room.

Muriel Eggleson was named the November's employee of the month. Mrs. Eggleson has been employed at Glades General since 1962 and she is the head nurse for the Obstetrics unit at the hospital.

Mrs. Linda Cone, an administrative secretary was the December honoree. She has been with the hospital since May 3, 1979.

The January recipient of the employee of the month award was Mrs. Beatrice Wilson. Mrs. Wilson started her employment with Glades General in 1959 in the Dietary Department. She is currently one of the senior members of the housekeeping staff.

THE ALPHA PHI OMEGA FRATERNITY Pledge Club recently spent a Saturday giving first blood pressure tests at Royals in the Glades Plaza. The blood pressure tests were given free. The project is just one of several community service projects the group is undertaking. From

ADAMS BIKE-A-THON CHAIRMAN

BELLE GLADE — W Richard Young, executive director of the Florida Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation announced the appointment of Mrs. Willie M Adams of Belle Glade as chairman of the 1981 Spring Cystic Fibrosis Foundation Bike-a-thon.

Mrs. Adams will lead local volunteers in organizing a bike-a-thon to benefit children who suffer from the number one genetic killer of children and young people in the United States.

The chairman of the bike-a-thon for the Glade for the second consecutive year, Mrs. Adams and her committee has set the bike-a-thon for Saturday, Mar. 14. The route will travel SR 715 from Belle Glade to Pahokee back to Belle Glade.

Mrs. Adams said although last year's bike-a-thon was a successful event she is looking forward to the second Spring bike-a-thon to be more successful in the thousands of dollars raised for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Local funds raised through the bike-a-thon will go to the Florida Chapter headquarters located in Dunedin and the proceeds will be used in the Foundation's program of clinical research.

Presently there is no cure or long-term control for Cystic Fibrosis and every day five children are born with the disease and every day three people die from CF.

Persons wishing to participate or volunteer for committee assignments are asked to contact Mrs. Adams after 4 p.m. at 996-3130.

FELONY ARRESTS LISTED

Palm Beach County /State's Attorney David Bludworth published this week the first list of felony cases filed on Glades residents.

Bludworth announced last month he would soon begin publishing the list as a deterrent to crime, basing his philosophy on the fact arrestees wouldn't like having their names and arrest records appear in public.

He said an added benefit would be that the public would have the information and could possibly use it to good cause. This week's list includes: Claude Brown, 254 N.W. 11th Ave., South Bay, burglary; Innocent Daniel, address unknown, aggravated battery; Jean Doe also known as Francisco Perez also known as Luis S. Santana, Carrying a concealed firearm; Rodney Leon King Miami Locks, #216 Lake Harbor, Florida, 1. Obstructing or opposing officer with violence, 2. Fleeing or attempting to elude a police officer; Benjamin Morales Glades Correctional Inst. Belle Glade, Florida, Escape; Milton Smith 340 S.W. 6th St. Belle Glade, Florida, uttering a forged instrument; Jose Correa Rodriguez 15 Avenue 16th St. S.W. Miami, Florida, Aggravated Battery; Felb Tomlin 1354 Boone Avenue Pahokee, Florida, 1. Dealing in stolen property, 2. Attempting uttering a forgery; Danie Dulane Tucker 1200 River Dr. LaBelle, Florida, 1. Possession of Methamphetamine, 2. Possession of Marijuana over twenty grams; Arthur Lee Williams 400 S. Coconut Rd. Pahokee, Florida, Attempted grand theft; Joe Turner Williams 1800 N.W. 10th St. South Bay, Florida, 1. Aggravated Assault, 2. Improper exhibition of dangerous weapon; Thomas James Neal 201 N.W. 5th St. #1 Belle Glade, Florida, 1. Battery on police officer, 2. Disorderly intoxication.
